

Insurance As Unique As Your Agricultural Operation

Vane provides insurance solutions for growers and businesses in the production agriculture value chain. We apply fresh thinking combined with decades of insurance risk management experience and underwriting expertise to align our solutions with your operation.

Why VANE?

Some growers and agricultural businesses either don't qualify for subsidized programs or seek alternative customized solutions.

Vane is focused on delivering differentiated coverages customized to unique needs of each grower and business.

Customized

Tailored to fit your operation with only the coverage you need to protect and grow your business.

Easy & Efficient

We simplify the insurance process. No recurring audits or burdensome reporting of information. We focus on precision data and other sources to underwrite, rate, customize coverages and premiums and manage claims by creating a tailored streamlined business relationship with you.

Committed & Capable

Trusted and backed by Ag-focused and financially strong insurance and reinsurance markets.

AGRIBUSINESS Contracted Grain Insurance

Agribusinesses seeking to forward contract grain without an act of God provision are understandably hesitant about the amount of grain contracted for delivery to others due to production and price risk. As a result, market opportunities to forward contract grain at favorable pricing are often missed. And while commodity hedging is one solution, hedging is a complex environment for those with little hedging experience or does not fit the Agribusiness basis risk.

Vane provides a forward contract insurance coverage that provides coverage when the grower has a production shortfall, and the current price of grain is higher than the delivery contract. Vane's Contracted Grain Coverage protects the grower from the increased cost to fulfill the delivery contract
